Wines Exclusive for Untamed Wine Club Members

South African Wine and More!

In 2023, Dane began producing wines in South Africa - returning to grapes that launched his career. Our wines were aged and bottled under the watchful eye of Dane's brother, Anthony Sanvido (also a winemaker),
We're now ready to share them with you!

When?

Join us for the grand release of our South African wines: March 2nd, 10am-1pm. We will have food and wine pairings complementary for our members.

Where can I buy it?

These are very limited production wines and will only be available to our members in our tasting room or online. Ask about our explorer's club to be the first to enjoy new releases.

What's coming?

We have more wines to explore! in addition to South African wines, we are producing a new lineup - wines that deserve to stand out on their own, and encourage your palate to travel. Coming soon is our Texas Hill country Picpoul, GSM blend, Bordeaux Blend, and a few more surprises...

ROSÉ

THE DAUGHTER OF OUR RED WINES

There are different ways to make rosé, but we love using the saignée method.

In this method we start with processing the grapes for our red wine, this includes destemming the grapes and transporting the entire lot to tank.

During this maceration process of our red wine production, we drain a percentage of the juice once the optimal color and aroma has been reached for our rosé (4-36 hours depending on the varietal and grapes).

After, we transfer the rosé to tank for settling purposes and then again to barrel to undergo fermentation.

The saignée method not only produces a stellar rosé, but also helps to concentrate the remaining red wine

In your shipment this month, we've included a rosé and the corresponding red wine. We hope you have fun comparing flavors, color, and aromas!

WINE HOST BIO

Dane Sanvido Owner, General Manager/Winemaker Untamed Wine Estates

Dane is an internationally experienced winemaker with nearly 24 harvests on his resume. Originally from South Africa, he earned a degree in enology and pomology from The University of Stellenbosh before producing wines for various wineries throughout the world including South Africa, Austria, Australia, New Zealand, California, Missouri, and Texas.

Working in different environments and using a vast range of machinery has given Dane the experience to build a state of the art winery and the confidence to bring lesser-known grape varietals to the forefront.

He looks forward to introducing you to his wines and meeting new fellow wine enthusiasts.
